

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a system and method for processing, organizing and accessing mission critical facilities information and intellectual property.

The system and method of the present invention comprises the steps of selectively

- 5 gathering mission critical facilities data, providing a mechanism and procedure for inputting the information into the system, storing the data and then providing guaranteed and secure access to the information.